From the Missionary.

Letter from Rev. John L. Stuart.

HANCHOU, CHINA, May 12, 1869.

I once asked my teacher why the Chinese boys study their books, and he replied, "In order that they may understand politeness and morality." The books used in their schools contain nothing but the sayings of the sages on these two subjects. And while the great stimulus to spend so many wearisome years in learning arbitrary characters is the hope of securing an office in the government,—all of which depend on scholarship,—the only direct advantage they receive seems to be a knowledge of politeness and morality. As might be expected, they attach great importance to the knowledge and practice of what they consider good manners. They pay as much attention to the study of morality, but come far short in the practice of it.

Those who have had official dealing with them complain of their tiresome ceremony, and we cannot see them in the common routine of life without being impressed with the amount of unmeaning etiquette. When two gentlemen meet on the street, each one clasps his own hands together, bends forward, extending his folded hands downward, then, standing straight, raises his hand above his head. They neither shake each other's hands nor rub their noses together. After this salutation, they ask the ordinary questions about the health, weather, business, etc. When two strangers meet, one asks, "What is your honorable name?" The reply is, "My humble name," etc. "Where is your honorable mansion?" "My straw cottage is," etc. For asking the age, which is also a polite question, they use several forms—one for a young man, one for a middle-aged, and one for an old man. Old age is much respected, and the tendency is always to represent themselves as older than they really are. They reckon their age, not by the number of birthdays passed, but by the number of years in which they have lived, always adding another year on their new year's day. Thus, a child born the latter part of one year, would, on the first of the next year, be called two year, old. They have a profound reverence for every thing old or ancient; and to all arguments against the unreasonableness of any custom, it seems sufficient to reply, that "from the begining until now, it has been thus." Some one has described their etiquette as "one insisting, the other attempting to decline;" at the same time, both know very well what is proper to be done on the occasion. The longer one can keep up the pretence of declining, the more their taste for ceremony is gratified. When one friend visits another, the host insists on his taking the "upper seat," which is to the left of the host. This he must gracefully decline for some time; but, being prevailed on by the importunities of the host, he takes his place in front of the chair. Then there is another contest—the guest wishes the host to be seated first; but this he cannot think of, and will earnestly contend untill he finally overcomes. Both being seated, tea and probably other refreshments are brought in. On leaving, the guest says, "I have been but little company." He is asked to "sit longer," "go slowly," and "return to-morrow." The host must see him to the door, and there exchange one or more parting bows. Their language of politeness is loaded with expressions honoring others and depreciating self. New Year's holiday, in the middle of February, is the great time for paying their respects to their friends The poorest can generally raise enough money to rent a suit of clothes in which to make himself presentable on this occasion.

At large weddings or other festive occasions, it is common to employ a "master of ceremonies," well versed in all the complicated rules of ceremony. And when it is known that the bride and groom often bow twenty times before the "ancestral tablet," in addition to many other idolatrous rites, it may be supposed that they would need a competent person to assist their memories and regulate their movements. Then, as to where each of the guests must sit involves an acquaintance with the genealogical table which would puzzle the oldest grandmother or maidenly aunt. The bride, all through these ceremonies, acts as a thing without will—bows, rises, sits, walks, as she is told; listens to the admiration or criticism of friend or foe, without a reply or showing an emotion either of gratitude or anger. For days before the important event, she receives the instructions of a teacher of ceremony with reference to all that pertains to that occasion. This ceremony runs through all of their intercourse. On entering school for the first time, teacher and scholars must go through certain prescribed rules, and every morning the scholars must make a ceremonious salutation to his teacher.

According to the notions on this side of the world, the lower must make presents to the higher, and we sometimes see porters carrying presents along the streets; for it is not kept a secret. They always make a greater show than the reality would justify. A man will present his friend with a basket of oranges; but if you should remove one or two from the top, you will see that there are only a few on top, the rest being straw or shavings. This does not deceive any one; it is simply "one of the customs of the country." Sometimes a man, after buying in a store something as a present, rents several other articles to be sent along, knowing that they will be returned; for a native readily perceives what is intended as a present and what for parade. But, with all their attention to external rites and ceremonies, they fall far short of true politeness. They teach and allow their children to insult the peaceable foreigner in their streets, by calling them ugly names, such as "foreign devils." But even here we have a proverb which generally stops them—"If the elder do not teach, the younger cannot learn." As this is a reflection on their parents, they do not like to have it repeated.

As to the doctrines of morality taught by their sages, there are very many "old sayings" which approach nearer to Christian truth than can be found in any other heathen nation. Confucius has the merit of coming nearer the golden rule than any other mere man—"Do not unto others as you would not have them do to you." But a long with the good, there is much which is questionable, simple, and bad. One of the first sentences a boy learns at school has furnished ground for controversy in all ages—it is, "At birth, men's hearts are radically good." They are also taught that it is wrong to eat beef, because it is the flesh of an animal which has done man service. Tracts "admonishing the age" among other subjects, sometimes also "admonish" men not to eat beef, stating the wonderful and awful consexuences which will certainly follow. They also teach that a boy should follow the example of his father!—a piece of advice calculated to perpetuate the race of thieves and beggers in China indefinitely. It is a very gross breach of manners to treat the characters with disrespect or to throw them away, and they say that blindness will certainly be visited on him who violates this law.

The most of their "old sayings" have come down from the age of Confucius, and have received an unquestioning reverence for more than two thousand years. It may readily be understood that they will not give up without a struggle doctrines received from the lips of parents, teachers, and sages, invested as they are with all that veneration for antiquity and reverence for the fabulous wisdom ascribed to their sages, on the bare announcement of the gospel. When tried by their wise sayings and tested by their rules, the preaching of the cross is indeed foolishness unto them. And coming from the mouth of the despised foreigner, there seems no human probability that that doctrine will ever be accepted by them. What a blessed thought it is, then, for the missionaon the field and the Christian at home to remember that "Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." "Not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power." Nothing less than the almighty power of God can accomplish the conversion of a soul. Let us all solemnly ponder this fact, brougt out so plainly in a heathen land; and let us pray accordingly for the blessing of the Spirit of God, remembering the last words of him to whom all power was committed—"Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

REPUDIATION.—A great deal has lately been said on this subject in various sections of the country. It is certainly a question upon which many arguments may be advanced both pro and con. To settle it correctly would involve a decision of the objects for, and the mode by which the national debt was created. All will admit that if the debt was honest and contracted for a legal purpose it would be dishonest to dodge out of the payment of it. We do not desire on this occasion to discuss the primary question, but submit if the Radicals have any right to denounce those who go for repudiation, having used their power to force others to do the very thing they complain of. The following syllogism from the Courier Journal is a complete answer to all radical papers or financiers who talk of the dishonor of repudia-

[redacted]

Our friend, E. C. Grier, Esq., one of the best farmers in Providence, brought the first bale of new cotton to this market that was raised in this county. Stenhouse, Macaulay & Co., reported this several days ago, and we repeat it now only to use it as a text for further comments. Mr. Grier has a beautiful farm, and cultivates it admirably. He has an excellent crop of cotton, and fine corn. Last year he made 35 bushels of corn to the acre, by actual measurement, and a 450 lb. bale of cotton. This farming dont look much like it was necessary to import people from abroad to teach agriculturists their interest, and we understand that there are lands now in Providence that will bring $30 per acre at Sheriff's sale, so does this look like we must give away one-half to make the other valuable. While we would be opposed to immigrants coming in colonies, we would like to see them here in sufficient numbers to buy land, whenever it is actually in the market. Mr. Dixon of Georgia is right in opposing an influx of labor, and a vast increase of the area of cultivation, for by doubling the amount of product the cost is more than doubled, while the price is diminished in a four fold ratio.

We are getting on well enough, and with a year or two more of good seasons, and with judicious legislation will have capital enough of our own for all enterprises that will pay.

The following statement appears in the Pall Mall Gazette:

"All the extraordinary proceedings of the many fanatical sects whose rapid increase has excited so much anxiety in Russia are fairly thrown into the shade by a terrible act of self-immolation which is reported from the Government of Saratow. A few months ago the prophets of a new religion made their appearance in that part of the empire, preaching self-destruction by fire as the only sure road to salvation, and so readily was their dreadful doctrine received by the ignorant and superstitious peasantry that in one large village no less than 1,700 persons assembled in some wooden houses, and, having barricaded the doors and windows, set the buildings on fire and perished in the flames. The authorities are doing all they can to stay the progress of this new madness, but their task is obviously a difficult one. The punishments which the law can inflict must have little terror for enthusiasts who deliberately choose a death so horrible as the true road to heaven."

The Richmond Whig says: The statement going the rounds of the press that "the collection of human bones on the battle fields in Virginia, (to be used as fertilizers,) is prosecuted as a regular business," is an unqualified lie.

Owing to the breaking of a supply-pipe, half of the city of Chicago is without water, and in case of a fire the loss would be terrible. The citizens don't suffer much, as they don't use the article.

STATE NEWS.

HOMICIDE.—On Wednesday a negro boy named Nat, a servant at the Boyden House, was shot in the forehead and instantly killed. The killing seems to have been the result of the accidental discharge of a pistol. Old North State.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—We learn that Mr. Trexler, living a few miles from this place, had his leg crushed in a horrible manner a few days since while attempting to load a saw log. It is thought that amputation will not be necessary.—Ib.

DEATH OF DR. MOTT.—We learn with regret that Rev. T. S. W. Mott, D. D. died at his residence in Catawba County, on Monday last. Dr. Mott had long been a Minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and was distinguished for his learning and his piety.—Ib.

HAND MANGLED.—We understand that Henry Stanton, a carpenter, employed at the machine shop of Mr. Thomas Briggs, had his hand badly mangled yesterday, by a circular saw, the fingers of the hand were nearly severed. Dr. F J. Haywood, and Dr. F. J. Haywood, Jr., were called to attend the case.—Standard.

JUMPED FROM THE TRAIN.—The down mail train from Goldsboro last evening, contained five military prisoners on their way to Fort Macon to serve out their sentence, for attempted murder and desertion. They were in charge of a Captain, Sergeant and four soldiers. When about five miles above this city, two of the prisoners sprang to the door and jumped from the train, which was going at about twenty miles an hour, and made good their escape to the woods. We did not learn their names, or which Military Post they were from.—Newbern Times.

A SAD ACCIDENT.—Yesterday, (Thursday) morning, as the regular mail and passenger train from the West, was within a few miles of Goldsboro, a colored brakeman, named Henry Morehead, while on the top of a car, engaged in taking up the bell rope, lost his balance and fell between the cars. As soon as the accident was discovered Captain Green, the efficient conductor in charge of the train, at once had the engine reversed and when the body of the unfortunate was found it presented a most heart-rending spectacle. Both legs had been cut off and the body was otherwise terribly mangled. Death must have [illegible] Messenger.

NEW COTTON PRESS.—We were pleased to meet on yesterday our old friend Gray Utley, who has probably received more patent rights on useful inventions than any other man in North Carolina. He informed us that he was here for the purpose of having a new cotton press built which is said to be superior to anything of the kind now in use. The presses will be put up at the well-known establishment of T. H. Briggs, in this city.—Standard.

ACCIDENT.—Norfleet Jeffreys, pressman in the Standard office, had two fingers of his right hand painfully lacerated on yesterday afternoon, while regulating the impression on the Campbell press while in motion.—Ib.

LARGE SALES.—A leading dry goods house in Raleigh has sold one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars worth of goods the past year.—Ib.

Copper and Gold have been discovered on the farm of Alson G. Oakey, within five miles of this place. A rich vein of mundic was discovered within five f et of the surface, while quarrying rock for building a bridge on the Salem railroad. It is said to be the finest out-cropping of copper, ever discovered so near the surface, in this State.—Greensboro Patriot.

Dr. Benbow will make this fall 1,500 gallons of Catawba wine, at his vineyard near this place.—Ib.

A few days since a beautiful and accomplished young lady of North Carolina left her home clandestinely, it is feared, for the purpose of leading a life of shame. Her distracted parents have traced her to Norfolk, and have been searching for her for several days without success.

The Right Hon. Stephen Lushington, the distinguished civilian whom Lady Byron consulted, and from 1838 till 1867, Judge of the High Court of Admiralty, is still living. He was born in 1782, and is, consequently, now 87 years of age.

The spiritualists are entreated to call up the spirit of Lady Byron, and ascertain whether she ever made such declarations to our literary scandal-monger, that she is represented to have made before shuffling off her mortal coil.

Washington Letter.

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1, 1869.

The presence of the President for a day or two at the national capital hardly produced a ripple upon the political sea, owing to the fact that it was universally understood that he would not settle permanently until after the middle of next month. General Grant will leave in the night train of this date to return to Saratoga, and has not completed his plans for the continuance of his tour. A great many invitations from prominent gentlemen have been extended him, and he will probably accept as many of them as he can find convenient.

Political affairs generally remain at a stand still, and will be stagnant until about the tenth or fifteenth of the month, when something may be expected to create sensations in the land. So far as the condition of things affecting Virginia is concerned, it may safely be said that in the end all will work well. Had the intention of the President been to agree to anything like exacting test-oaths, the Radicals in Virginia, through their friends in the Cabinet here, would certainly have been authorized to announce such as a fact; but the real truth about it is that nothing futher has been learned on this topic than was known immediately after the election. That was, that a majority of the Cabinet entertain views with regard to the political situation in Virginia similar to those editorially announced in several recent articles in the New York Tribune and Times. The matter will soon approach a clear and gratifying solution for the people of Virginia. The skies must brighten ere long, and the clouds which seem to have been hovering around will assuredly prove to have their "silver lining." T.

The Errors and Corruptions of the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church.

[From the New York Herald.]

The Rev. Dr. Shepherd preached a sermon on the above subject in the Methodist Non-Episcopal Church, Graham Avenue, Williamsburg, (N. Y.) on the 20th ult.

In opening his discourse he contrasted the simplicity, force, energy and poverty of that Church fifty years ago with its pompousness, weakness, listlessness and wealth of the present time. He lamented the good old days when the congregation did its own singing, when the ministers were not graduates of colleges but of the Church itself, and required no ordi[illegible] he said, the Church was poor, despised and persecuted. Now it was the richest in America, and yet the poorest. Its real estate was worth $35,000,000, the interest of which was $2,500,000, enough, he thought, to support all the preachers in America. We then, he said, chose our trustees from the members, now from th[illegible] world, especially if they are wealth[illegible] These men are lords over [illegible] heritage. They rule the people [illegible] a rod of iron, and even the ministers themselves are controlled by them and called by them without the bishop's approval. We formely built churches for the poor, now palaces for the rich; and the bishop is at his wits' end to find men to fill these magnificent churches. To please the trustees he has to search all the conferences in the United States to find preachers to send them. And after all they are not satisfied. Fifty years ago the preachers had about $100 a year, now $3,000 a year and a fine, well furnished house to live in, besides many donations. Really the preachers and people have got above themselves. They neither act like Methodists, live like Methodists, or dress like such; they are as proud, pompous, haughty and fashionable as other people.

Fifty years ago our preachers preached the Gospel, repentance and remission of sins through the name of Jesus, justification and sanctification, holiness of heart and life, a free and a full salvation. Now the fashionable preachers preach nothing but either politics or metaphysics. The name of the Saviour and his doctrines are seldom or never named in the pulpit or out of it. The minister who never names the name of Jesus but in the pulpit, ought never to enter it, and the member who never mentions his name but in the Church, is unworthy of it or to go to the sacrament. Fifty years ago the itinerant plan was in full operation, now the congregational, the ministers want to be settled for life, without sermons enough to last them two years. Formerly the bishop stationed the preachers, now the trustees and presiding elders do it. If a trustee wants a favorite preacher he goes to the elder and tells him the person he wants, and he is sure to have him. He may be a relative or friend, so that if the preacher can only get the trustees on his side, he is sure to succeed. The people have no voice whatever in the choice of their preacher, nor any interest whatever in the real estate of the Church. It all belongs to the Conference. O, how has the pure gold become dim and the mighty fallen—"we have hung our harps on the willow. We can sing the songs of Zion no longer, because in a strange land." Hear what our blessed Saviour says, "Because thou art neither cold nor hot, but lukewarm, I will spew thee out of my mouth, because thou sayest I am rich and increased in goods, and have need of nothing, and knowest not that thou art wretched and miserable, and poor and blind and naked. Remember, therefore, from whence thou art fallen, and repent and do the first works over again or I will come unto thee quickly and remove the candlestick (church) out of its place." How shall we walk in the good old way? "We must repent and do our first works over again." Set out anew for heaven. Let that excellent man (I knew him before he was a priest) who is no novel reader nor novel writer and who has never departed from the good old way—that is, Bishop Janes—first insist on congregational singing, with the old Methodist tunes. Second, that all the preachers throw aside their notes, and let us have old-fashioned preaching. Third, let all our churches in future be built for the poor as well as for the rich. Fourth, insist on the preachers warning every man and teaching every man in all wisdom (doctrines) that they may present every man without excuse in the day of judgment. If not, their blood will be required at their hands. Fifth, let him insist that the discipline or rules of the Church shall be observed by all, rich and poor. Sixth, let the preachers visit every member of the Church, whether rich or poor. Seventh, let the preachers warn the people against dress, dancing, card playing, the theatre, opera and places of fashionable amusements—away with them all, they are diabolical. Eighth, let him insist that provision be made for the poor and needy in the winter, that none of our members may be sent to the alms house. May we remember that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." Ninth, let the preachers insist on the people "bringing up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord," never to read a novel or have a newspaper in their houses on Sunday, nor to write letters or read them on that holy day. Here, then, dear brethren, is the good old way pointed out to you, and how you should walk in it. Do not say, therefore, like the rebellious Jews, "We will not walk in this way." Remember, they were destroyed by the Roman army for disobeying God's commands; and if we refuse to do it he will punish us also—perhaps with the cholera or yellow fever, or some other epidemic disease. May the great Head of the Church bless you and cause his face to shine on you. Amen and amen.

The Long Ago.

The September number of the Galaxy has an article on the "Unsociable[illegible]" in which the writer speaks glowingly of good old times "lang syne" when our grandfathers, in queues, knee-buckles and ruffles, accompanied by their worthy spouses in poke bonnets, assembled themselves frequently together to enjoy dishes of tea and scandal, or frequented "parties" where a little mild [illegible] ballad-singing, piano forte playing indulged in for a few hours, [illegible] twenty or thirty guests [illegible] to go home and tuck themselves quietly into bed, with consciences untroubled by the loss of a few shillings at the card table, and stomachs quite equal to the effort of digesting the seed cake and lemonade that had constituted the evening's refreshments. These old fashioned assemblies are made the text for a sermon, in which many plain truths are told of the showy, shoddy, unsatisfactory entertainments of our day. The monster "reception," for instance, where a motley crowd of people, half of whom don't or won't know the other half, jam themselves into rooms too small to hold a third of the number comfortably, where a band blows and jingles until one is deafened, and the impossibility of making a single reasonable remark is so great that no one is ever found to attempt it; where hosts of women air costly toilettes, either unpaid for or earned by the groans of melancholy men near the doors, who keep up a little desultory conversation and show by the expression of their faces what an unutterable weariness of the flesh the whole thing is to them; where unsubstantial feasts, a la Russe, served on hired plate, watched by policemen in the garb of servants, are spread before the tired, heated victims, and where, after a great deal of preliminary skirmishing, each guest seizes a favorable opportunity, darts up to his hostess to thank her for the pleasure afforded, and with a sigh of intense relief finds himself in the street again! Oh Sydney Smith, Lamb, Coleridge, Hood, Hazlitt, and Johnson, why was this genial, delightful, improving intercourse with your fellow-man denied you?

The Crow's Value to the Farmer.

Whatever wrong the crow commits against the cultivators of the soil, may by a little pains-taking, be materially lessened or wholly prevented. The benefits he confers are both numerous and important. During the time he remains with us he destroys, so says no less authority than Willson, "myriads of worms, moles, mice, grubbs and beetles." Audubon also affirms that the crow devours myriads of grubs every day in the year—grubs which would lay waste the farmers fields—and destroys quadrupeds innumerable, every one of which is enemy to his poultry and his flocks. Dr. Harris also, one of the most faithful and accurate observers, in speaking of the fearful ravages sometimes wrought in our grass-lands and gardens by the grub of the May-beetles, adds his testimony to the great services rendered by the crow in keeping these pests in check. Yet, here in Mas-achusetts, regardless of such testimony in their favor, we have nearly exterminated the birds, and the destructive grubs, having no longer this active enemy to restrict their growth, are year by year increasing with a fearful persistence. We have seen large farms within an hour's ride of Boston, in which over entire acres the grass was so completely undermined and the roots eaten away, that the loosened earth could be rolled up as easily as if it had been cut by the turfing-spade. In the same neighborhood whole fields of corn, potatoes, and almost every kind of garden vegetable, had been eaten at the root and destroyed. Our more intelligent farmers, who have carefully studied out the cause of this unusual insect growth, have satisfied themselves that it is the legitimate result, the natural and inevitable consequence of our own acts. Our short-sighted and murderous warfare upon the crow has interrupted the harmonies of nature, disturbed her well adjusted balance, and let loose upon agriculture its enemies with no adequate means of arresting their general increase.—At. Monthly.

RICHARD A. ROZZILL, respectfully announces himself as an independent candidate for the Senate, at the special election in October. His platform is low taxes, reduction of salaries and economy in the administration of the State Government.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Regular Habit of Body.

Is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of persons cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs, and one of its most common results is constipation. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants,—such as an unpleasant breath, a swollow skin, contaminated blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory, and general debility.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant, or a tonic, or an anti-bilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It lends activity and vigor to the nerves and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves, and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold in bottles only, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, with our steel engraved revenue stamp over the cork, is the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeits.

All kinds of Job-Printing executed at the TIMES office.

We have just received a fine assortment of the latest styles of type, and are prepared to execute at short notice any kind of printing that may be called for, in style unsurpassed by any establishment in the State, and at moderate prices.

BLANKS.—A full assortment of magistrate's, sheriff's, constable's, solicitor's and all kinds of legal blanks kept constantly on hand and for sale at the TIMES office.

CORRECTION.—In our notice yesterday, of the builders of E. M. Holt & Co's, store, our printer made it say Taylor & Harrison, when everybody knows it ought to be Taylor & Allison. These contractors we understand have as much work as they can do between now and cold weather. We are glad of this, for two reasons, first, because it shows the town is growing, and secondly, that the buildings are to be of the most substantial kind.

The colored String Band, composed of Dick Williams, Freeman Lane, and Amos Williams, gave us a delightful serenade on last Tuesday night, for which we thank them. The waltze and other dance music was excellent. 'Tis wonderful what a talent the colored race have for music, and these in particular, seem to possess it in a very high degree.

We publish to-day an advertisement of Prof. Hensler, who is desirious of raising a private musical class. All we have to say is, that, the gentleman is a good musician and no doubt a good teacher, having had long experience in various schools and lately having been elected as a teacher of that branch in the was to have been Fairview Female College of this city.

FEMALE SCHOOL.—We learn that it is in contemplation to open on the 15th of October, at the Cleaveland White Sulphur Springs a high grade Female Institute under the Presidency of the Rev. E. J. Meynardie. This is a delightful place and offers in point of situation every advantage for such an enterprise, and we have every reason to believe that the Rev. President will call around him a faculty of high character, experience and qualification. From the known zeal, energy and learning of the eloquent divine we predict for the school a brilliant and successful career.

Richard A. Rozzill has our thanks for a very large water-mellon, which he brought us on Saturday.

We heard it reported upon the streets, without being able to trace it to any reliable source, that the Catholics were anxious to purchase the building, formerly the Military Institute and more lately the Mecklenburg Female College, for the purpose of establishing a Nunnery.

ON DIT.—We heard on the street Saturday, that it was probable that Gen. D. H Hill, will shortly re-open the Military Institute. We trust that the rumor may turn out as verity.

The Norfolk Journal says: A friend of ours, a native of New England, was, a few years before the war, on a visit to his native State. While there he visited a large shoe manufactory, owned by an old friend. The latter gentleman offered our friend a full supply of boots for the year at a price smaller than he would have to give for them by the pair at retail.

Our friend answered: "I am much obliged to you, sir; but I have cast my lot for life with the people of Norfolk, and whatever little I have to spend, must be spent with them; for I consider that every man must help the community in which he lives."

The manufacturer replied: "Sir, you are right—every man should help to support the people among whom he makes his bread."

We commend the example of this adopted citizen to many who, born and bred here, yet purchase everything they use among those very "Yankees" whom some pretend so to hate. If the money spent at the North every year by some of our people, were disbursed among our own merchants and mechanics, its effects would be seen in the increase of the city, instead of the enriching of other communities.

INDIA COTTON.—The exports from the Central Provinces of India to Bombay were 273,141 bales, from October 1st to June 18.

The Commissioner of the Central Provinces says in his report: "In regard to the improvement of cotton cultivation, the result of the experiments, conducted again this year with great care, has not been such as to convince me that the American cotton seed is likely to prove a success in Central India; and I am still inclined to believe that the view expressed in my former report and concurred in by the Chamber of Commerce, that more gold is likely to be effected by the careful treatment of the indigenous plant than by the adoption of exotic seed is correct. The season, it is true, was particularly unfavorable. Still, the hardy little Berar plant suffered but slightly, whilst the fields sown with exotic seed presented a most withered appearance, and most of the crop was destroyed by the want of rain. And it is, I fear, sufficiently evident that a plant that cannot stand the caprices of the Decan climate, is not likely to find general favor in the Berars."

LATEST NEWS.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Revenue to-day, 912,000

The Postal Money Order system with Switzerland went into operation yesterday.

There are over a thousand suits pending against New York Bankers and Brokers for understatements of capital; conviction involves fine and imprisonment.

The Evening Express says: "It is said that Gen. Canby is preparing a report to the President, pitching into the political, moral and social status of Virginia generally, charging the people with hindering reconstruction and being secretly hostile to the Congressional policy."

Spanish Minister Roberts authorizes the statement that the recent publication of the intercepted letter in the New York Sun, is a fogery.

A private letter, dated at Madrid, from an authoritative source, states that Sickles offered the United States as a mediator between Spain and Cuba; the propositions being the abolition of slavery and payment to Spain, by Cubans, for forts, public buildings, &c. While Spain does not reject the proposed mediation, there are serious obstacles in the way of accommodation. The impression among many Spanish statesmen is, that Cuba must eventually pass from Spanish control. It is stated that Spain demands, as a preliminary, that the Cubans lay down their arms, with their accoutrements. The Cubans refuse, having no guarantee of protection from the volunteers, whom, it is stated, aim at the absolute control of the Island, and have a secret organization to that end.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The Virginia perplexity is at last at an end. Canby will very shortly proclaim the election and the Legislature will meet on the 4th Tuesday after such proclamation. The test-oath will not be exacted, but the Legislature will be forbidden action beyond what law makes preliminary to the State's recognition by Congress, such as the adoption of the 15th amendment, &c.

This action involves the installation of the Lt. Governor, without which the organization of the State Senate would be incomplete. Walker's installation is a necessary corollary.

Rawlins was very ill last night but is somewhat better to-day.

New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Pichinichi, near Quito, erupting heavily. Several small earthquakes are reported in Peru.

President Balla issued a Proclamation; declaring the independence of Cuba, on the 13th of August.

PARLOR HEATERS,

COOKING STOVES,

COOKING RANGES,

HOT-AIR FURNACES, &c.

S. B. SEXTON'S CELEBRATED

PATENT BALTIMORE PARLOR HEATERS

for Anthracite or Bituminous coal, have been in successful operation for the last ten years, and have proved to be the best Fire-place Heaters manufactured and put in operation. They are getting to be generally used, often in the place of furnaces, for heating the lower and upper rooms in dwellings and offices. Two or three Stoves heating the largest dwellings, and besides, are quite ORNAMENTAL and ILLUMINATING, having all the beauty and cheerfulness of an open grate fire, but are more ECONOMICAL, CLEANER, and RADIATING A LARGER AMOUNT OF HEAT. We can refer to thousands of families who have them in use.

We manufacture our own COOKING STOVES, and we guarantee them to be equal to any sold for baking and cooking. We have Stoves to take in long wood and with large ovens, and are superior Stoves for baking. We are getting out some new patterns of Cooking Stoves, that will burn Bituminous coal, hard coal, or wood. They will have a beautiful finish, and will stand among the No. 1 Cook Stoves. Our Cooking Stoves are Baltimore made, and we guarantee the plates. Our Cooking Ranges are pronounced the best and cheapest in the market.—Baking of all kinds can be done in our Ranges as quickly and equally as well as in a Brick oven. We will manufacture S. B. SEXTON'S new patent Hot-Air Furnaces, warranted to burn from 30 to 70 hours with once filling.

Thankful to our friends and the public for their past favors, we solicit a continuance of their patronage.
